A USEFUL LIFE ENDED

Dr. S. P. Eagleton, the Brilliant Young Specialist, Dies After a Brief Illness

The city was shocked beyond measure last night to learn that Dr. Samuel Potts Eagleton was dead, and the distressing news could hardly be credited. Dr. Eagleton was taken ill Monday. Yesterday his condition took a serious turn and his parents in Philadelphia were wired. At 6:40 last evening, after a congestive chill, he passed away.

Dr. Eagleton was born in Philadelphia thirty-three years ago. He graduated at an early age from the University of Pennsylvania, where he, at a later date, took a special postgraduate course and was again graduated, this time in his chosen specialty, the diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat. Dr. Eagleton moved to Lake Weir and, at two different periods of his life, resided there a season, and did a general practice there, having been granted a certificate by the state board of physicians. Returning to Philadelphia he was given charge of one of the largest and most important wards in a big hospital for children, where he gained much practical knowledge and imparted much good to those under him. He at another time had charge of the Wills Eye Hospital in that city and in this institution performed some remarkable operations on the eye, but no more so than several done in Ocala, though performed on poor people, generally gratis, as much of his work was, and consequently never heard of by the outside world.

Dr. Eagleton moved to Ocala about three years ago and opened an office for the practice of his specialties, meeting with success. Soon after arriving here he saw the necessity of an emergency hospital for the relief, first, of the poor and destitute, and secondly, for those able to pay for operations, but with no proper place or facilities for treatment. With the assistance of the other physicians of the city, he organized and got under way the Marion County Surgical Hospital, and while it was in its infancy organized the long remembered benefit, which netted several hundred dollars and at once placed the hospital on its feet.

Dr. Eagleton's work in Ocala has always been for the benefit and upbuilding of the city and the alleviation of suffering, and no man has done more, according to his means, than he.

Every one liked him. He was kind, jovial, and always had a smile or a joke to lighten the heart of a friend. The city has lost one of her best citizens and the state medical fraternity one of its most skillful members. Probably no man in Florida was ever more thoroughly master of his special line than Dr. Eagleton. He will be sadly missed. The young men who were joking and laughing with him as late as Monday can not as yet fully realize that their friend and companion has passed over the river into the spirit land.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. C. M. Gray, from the residence at 4 o'clock this afternoon and the body was laid away in the old cemetery. Many and beautiful were the floral gifts, mute but eloquent tributes to his memory.

Dr. Eagleton was a member of the Fraternal Union of America and carried $1000 insurance in the same. This, as far as known, comprised all of the insurance carried on his life. He was a member of several leading college societies of the North, and retained many warm friends on their membership rolls.

He leaves a young wife and a little baby daughter, and his cousins, Mrs. Law and Harry Eagleton, in Ocala, and his father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Eagleton, and sister, Miss Margaret, in Philadelphia, all of whom are well known in Ocala. The Star, with the entire community, extends its deepest sympathy to the grief-stricken family.

FOR SWEET CHARITY'S SAKE

W. E. Fosnot, who rebuilt the little steamer Maggie on Lake Weir and now owns a controlling interest in it and has rechristened her the "Della," and while he has gone to Iowa to return with his family to Lake Weir, has authorized George Russell, of Weir Park, to run the steamer Della during the month of September and donate half the receipts to the unfortunate people of Galveston. Here is an opportunity for Ocala people to take a day's outing and pleasure and in that way not only secure to themselves a day of pleasure, but assist materially in aiding the distressed people of Galveston. Who stands ready to undertake the work?

Tom Epps Harris went to Altoona last evening to be present at the democratic speaking at that place today and distribute Ocala capitol removal literature.
